

AWARDS 2011

Ceremony sponsored by

This year is the Association's 12th annual Awards for Warehousing presentation ceremony, sponsored by Jungheinrich UK, and it will be held alongside the Annual Luncheon once again taking place in the Ballroom Suite of the Dorchester Hotel, Park Lane, London, on Wednesday 6th July 2011.

As a special occasion featuring a celebrity speaker, the Awards for Warehousing enjoys a high profile and every UKWA member company is urged to consider whether they have an achievement worthy of consideration. We have nine Awards in total and the Technology/Innovations Award is open to non-members as well as members.

AWARDS CRITERIA

Customer Service Award

Open to all UKWA member companies. The judges will be seeking evidence of customer insight and a customer focused culture within the organisation.

The finalists will be able to demonstrate:

- An in-depth understanding of customer needs;
- Effective ways of measuring the results of their services and customer satisfaction.

Training Award

This award is given for training achievement. It can be awarded to an individual, organisation or jointly to both.

The winner will show:

- Significant personal and/or team achievement at any level of individual or team development.

This could be as a result of company external or internal training schemes, government supported programmes, or distance learning. Where achievement has been attained in the face of personal and/or professional difficulties they should be mentioned in submission. Mention should be made also of the tangible benefits to the company that the training has brought about.

Technology/Innovations Award

Evidence will be required of:

- Bold and innovative response to the changing market place: this could include the introduction of new technology, products, processes or procedures

The submission should include a description of the status quo ante, the response, and the net effect on operations. The nominee may be an individual or a company.

This award is open to non-members

Best New Warehouse Member Award

This is a corporate award given to the company showing the:

- highest professional standards of warehousing on joining the UKWA

The judges will consider the initial inspection reports of members recommended by the UKWA inspectors.

Warehouse Manager of the Year Award

The judges in this category will be looking for excellent personal and professional qualities which are reflected in an efficient operation, optimum warehouse productivity, and a highly motivated and flexible team. The winner will demonstrate:

- Strong and hands-on man management style
- A keen awareness of H&S issues and
- An ability to develop innovative and sustainable initiatives to deliver continuous improvements in warehouse management

Team of the Year Award

The award will be won by a company or depot that is able to demonstrate an outstanding team effort during the past year in their warehousing operations that has resulted, or will result, in greater productivity and/or increased profit.

The judges will be looking for evidence of:

- Bold and inspired leadership
- Positive engagement by team members (a team could comprise an internal workforce or partnership with an external supplier, consultancy or another party in the supply chain)
- Application of Best Practice principles

Results

Chairman's Award

Awarded by the Chairman to an individual or company who has made:

- a real and lasting contribution to the warehousing industry

That contribution may be a single event or the result of many years' involvement in the industry.

(NO NOMINATION REQUIRED)

Environment Award

Given to the company that demonstrates

- the most significant and successful application of 'Green processes, procedures or monitoring' during the year.

The judges will be looking for evidence of reduction in energy use, and a reduced carbon footprint.

In the latter case the judges will consider percentage reductions, rather than actual reductions of CO2 to allow smaller companies an equal chance to win the Award.

Employee of the Year

This category is open to any employee not in a supervisory or managerial role. The finalists will be able to demonstrate:

- A number of key personal attributes and a sound professional competency
- The winner will be an excellent role model who is inspirational to their colleagues
- He/she will show an enthusiasm for customer service, success in achieving personal and company goals and a commitment to career development.

Nominations should be accompanied by statements of support from management and colleagues.
